

THE TWO TRIBES WERE FRIENDLY

(Do you think the Senecas and Shawnees had any ceremonies together? Or were they just put together for the government to deal with? Did they ever really consider themselves combined as far as being in the same tribe?)

No, I don't think they were ever, they of course undoubtedly had some ceremonies together. We know they had elections together and I know my grandmother, the Armstrongs were quite prominent among those people in those days. And I heard her speak of the Armstrongs and going to spend two weeks with the Armstrongs. But ah, I'm sure both sides were loyal to their own blood sides. But they did have this agreement and, and as I said it we still have so many that's jointly but it's only a very small amount now. Because we are going to moved ours but I think Vernon's part is still down there. Well, listen I think this is all I've got. I've got to take a daughter to the train and I've got to see my wife in the hospital right after I get through here. She's in the hospital.

End of Part I.