

Yes, they do. Because they always pick somebody that knows the songs they dance by. For instance your mamma, when she was adopted, they had to get Ed to sing for her, and dance by--because he was the only one knows the kind of song they use on such on such occasions. Grover Foster used to know-- no he didn't. (Sac and Fox name) he's another that knows. All the others have died away. I think Ed's the only remaining Sac and Fox member that knows the songs. Grover Foster just knew his clan songs, but they don't use their clan songs for these adoption ceremonies. You know when they shake the gourd? They don't use that. They got special songs.

(Would you like to tell about squaw dance?)

It's just a religious ceremonial. We're not supposed to talk about it at all. (laughter.)

End of Interview--remainder of Side A is blank.

Side B of tape 429 is blank.