

(Uh-hum.)

And he's about--near eighty-five.

(Hum.)

The old man is about a hundred and thirteen where he died.

(Yeah. People seemed to enjoy living better long time ago.)

HENSLY WAS AN OLD SETTLER

There's a man living way on this side of England settlement. His name is Hensley.

(Uh-hum.)

Now, he's the oldest one in the Hollow.

(Well.)

And I'm next. I believe he's eighty-two. He lives--used to live right up the hollow here.

(Hum.)

But he bought him another place--moved way on up there side of the road.

Well, it's back on the hill. You can hardly see it from the road.

(Uh-hum.)

He's around eighty-something---

(Old man Hensley.)

Yes.

(Yeah.)

Irving Hensley.

(Uh-huh.)

I don't know just how old his wife. She's about--pretty old as he is.

(Yeah.)

They all come from Arkansas.

(Uh-hum.)
