

to be treated. I'm not saying we're not doing this just right. You all can't help but reflect that sometimes we're doing. We're very happy on behalf of my wife and I and my uncles and my aunts to be here. We heard about this so we made an effort to come over. Whenever it's a service boy being honored. Or be invited to this one we got to be there to help to do our heart and mind. The service that we can render to them on their behalf. So Indians are patriotic people. All of you know that if you have listened to your elders. Upon warpaths and long before this country were taken over. From them we are very patriotic. Full-blood Indians, I have not heard of any full-blood Indian that has been raised back home on reservation. And has tried to tear his draft card or burn it up or stomp on the flag. The white people are more or less ashamed for us admit this. It is not true that especially boys of ours has did that. So that's something nice in our behalf as well as if Vietnam is important or not. Our boys go there and do their service in the best manner that they can. And in these words have done and will do in a like manner so friends thank you for your attention. We have some boys here. The first game my wife and I would like to play with the walk around much. Want some of you boys to get these and pass around water. We enjoy helping, enjoy this. And it seems every time we go to handgames somewhere well the familiar faces are always there. And you are here so we'll play seven games. Prizes for each side is five dollars. Whoever wins on either side, whoever wins all the games all the way through, well that's the thing to do will be to get the most prizes. I thank Christine for this honor and we'll go ahead now. Thank you for your attention. Lets have couple volunteers to take care of the boys that going to play.

(Irrelevant conversation.)