

to be raised by this woman (speaks grandmother's Comanche name). And who had a firm belief in the Comanche people. And also a very understanding old man, like Yellow Fish, who would tell me almost any part of his life that I might not repeat to anybody. Except maybe others of his children. But he knew what I had in mind. I was trying to learn as much about the true past of the Comanches as I could. And like I said, it just so happened that I was born at the--into that family there. And thus I'm able to pass on or get down to somebody that may want to know something about the true past of the Comanches.

END OF INTERVIEW-REMAINDER OF TAPE IS BLANK.