

knew, back here. Ernie Shankles lived there.

(Yeah.)

These Vista people.

(Uh-huh. I remember which house it is.)

And you know that little leg, Ivy's little--well, it's rock house where Ivy lived. You remember Ivy. Well, it's just up here on the corner.

(Yeah.)

Liza lives there now.

(Oh-h.)

So he fixed that; and he built the lower part of the house down on the street down there. He built it and fixed it and rented it out then. We lived there about a year. Then he rented it out and went to Muskogee, and we lived at Muskogee about a year. And he came back and we went to Arkansas.

(Oh, where'd you move in Arkansas?)

I can't think of it right now. Omaha.

(Omaha.)

Omaha, Arkansas. That's a little small town. It's where his father lived and some of his folks. And out from--what's that big place down in there? It's about twenty miles from there. I can't think of it. I can't think of names at all sometimes.

(Fayetteville?)

No. Huh-uh. It's way on down.

(Oh, way on.)

It's out from, you know where Blue Eye, Missouri's at?

(No.)

Well, (words not clear) I was born.

(Oh, you were born at Blue Eye--)
