

but they did drink, I mean.

RAILROAD AT ONE TIME

(Uh-huh. Well, the railroad used to go through Hulbert, didn't it?)

Uh-huh. It did.

(It stopped here. Made a scheduled stop?)

Yeah, it was right down, well it's not down there now. You know where the houses are.

(Uh-huh.)

Down at the foot of the hill there?

(Yeah.)

The depot is up on the hill. Right up on the hill. Where those three houses are right along that way where I believe you lived with them girls, didn't you?

(Well, I know which ones you mean.)

I mean right down, you know.

(There's three right on a little hill there.)

Yeah, right up there. Depot wasn't up there it was just down--

(Right below.)

Yeah, and the railroad track run right along there. I wasn't paying any attention right lately, but I don't guess there's much sign of it now.

(Yeah. They took it all up.)

Oh yes, took it all up but then, of course, it was there.

SALE BARN OLDEST BUILDING IN TOWN.

(That old sale barn down there in Hulbert, how long has that been there?)

Oh, I don't know how long it's been there.

('Cause it's one of the oldest buildings in--)

No. No, it isn't. That house in behind the Christ of Church--you know where the Church of Christ is? As you go down the hill there over that
