

(The place they call Boothe Bottom, what part was that?)

That was way back down in here, back south, well it was southeast of here. Back down in there, that was prairie over there--well oh they got lots of timber down in there now.

(Yeah)

That's what it was.

(Well there must have been lot of folks lived up and down the river a long time ago.)

I should say, Indians, you know.

(Lots of Indians.)

Sure lot of 'em. Tiger Tadpole and--

(Yeah)

(name not clear) oh I don't know--lots of 'em.

(Turtles was--)

Yeah. Rabbits.

(Rabbits. Let's see Tuckers, where they down in--)

Yeah, they was down in here. They was down here.

(Old man Harrison, he's still down there.)

Yeah, yeah.

(And there was one fella by the name of Blackfox, who was down there for a while. And another one by the name of Walkingstick.)

Yeah, that Waslkingstick I remember, but I don't know the Blackfox. There were so many down in here. I knew lots of 'em at the time.

(Yeah. There's lots of Vanns down in here.)

All Vanns, yeah I forgot them.

(But they'd all gone, now, though.)

All gone now. They're done gone.

RECALLS LOCATIONS OF SEVERAL OLD CEMETERIES

(Do you remember where that old Fisher cemetery used to be before they moved it?)
