

(Where did they live?)

They lived over there right east of here. East--mile west on road a mile and a half mile south and a quarter east.

(Yeah)

And old man Jim Buckskin, he's an old Indian and he's a full-blood Indian, but he's dead now too. He's our deacon over here at Little Rock.

(Well. Most of the oldtimers all ready gone.)

Yeah, they all ready gone now.

(Yeah, Jim Hughes, he's gone now.)

Yeah, he gone too.

(Yeah.. He was a good man.)

Yeah.

LIVING CONDITIONS IN EARLY DAYS

(Well, what was this country like, Swimmer, when you were a little fella over here? Was it wild country?)

Well, it was pretty wild. Wasn't all fancy like it is now.

(Well.)

It was all undergrowth, you know.

(Yeah)

It was all open prairie.

(Just open prairie, its all growed up now.)

Yeah, all growed up now...

(Well did they call it Little Rock Prairie then or did they have a name for it?)

Saugee Prairie, they called it.

(Oh, the Saugee Praire.)

Yeah. They call it Saugee Prairie, but they call it after they built that church over there, they named it Little Rock then.
