

They call one Spoon, you know.

(Yeah.)

And Henry.

(Yés.)

Do you remember Joe Bryant?

(Oh yes.)

Joe Bryant, you know, had that store there, grocery store close--

(Close to the river there.)

That's my grandpa.

(That was your grandpa.)

Johnson.

(Yeah, that came from North Carolina. He must have come on the Trail of Tears then.)

Yeah. You know the way--they always said they walked every--all the way, you know.

(Well.)

North Carolina, you know they was driven out.

(Oh, that must have been terrible.)

Well that was terrible, you know, and that's why they call it the "Trail of Tears."

(Yeah, it was well named 'cause that's what it was.)

His mother she was from the Downings too. I think Jim Downing was her daddy.

(Well.)

Jim, and I don't know what the other--the other one, the oldest one, you know.

Cecil's mother, I don't know what her English name was.

(What was her Cherokee name?)

Unidentified Voice: Rachel.

Rachel, yes, Rachel.
