

of Montgomery Ward's. And I expect he'd know as much about it. Still, let's see, who else is up there now?

Woman: What about Mandel Martin. Did you ever go see Mandel Martin?

That ain't the one they call --

(Static)

(-- the old Cherokee Nation in Georgia?)

Woman: Uh-huh.

WHITE EAGLE - STONE

(The Lost Eagle. Well.)

Woman: I'll tell you who has got the slide is our county agent, Nelson. And he showed 'em yesterday morning. (words not clear). He came to that Indian women's club meeting yesterday morning. And he showed that. And, he said, that it was just perfect. Said it was nine feet. The spread was nine feet, the wing spread was nine feet. And from the top of the head to the end of the tail was nine feet.

(Well.)

And he said that no one knows the story to it. No one has ever known where the rock -- its white rock.

(Yeah.)

And they said that no one has ever known where that white rock came from in Georgia. Because nothing is like it anywhere. They can't imagine where the Indians brought that white rock from to make that eagle. Oh, he said, it was just beautiful sight. But, we all ready had an appointment to go to Claremore yesterday morning. Of course, I can't belong to the club, but oh they invite us there all the time, you know.

(Yeah.)

All of them. I'd just give anything if we could have seen that. Wouldn't that be interesting?
