

Your wife can't make it through the fence. I don't believe she can.

(The old school site, right here huh?)

The frame house.

(Here is the old foundation looks like.)

Yeah, that's it.

(Looks like. What was that, a well?)

Yeah, that was a well. That was a big school house.

(How was it kinda facing--east, the door--?)

The door, yeah, the door face the east. Yeah.

(Small school house wasn't it? How many students were here?)

There was a devil of a lot of them.

(There were?)

(Sentence inaudible) --bigger than this. They'll build another on this later on, see.

(You know how it is when you are small, the house looks bigger--)

Look awful big.

((When you get bigger, you get used to something bigger.))

Used to be 50 or 60 kids in here. (inaudible) side building could they?

(They sure did.)

They couldn't have. We didn't have any fireplace. We had an old stove set right in the middle. I believe they rebuilt this thing.

(Looks like a piece of that stove right here.)

Yeah, that's the piece of that old stove right there.

(Yeah.)

That was a desk. I know that's a stove leg. Looks like a desk leg there, doesn't it?

(It sure does. I don't know what this would have been off of,)

That's part of the stove. That's them old wood stoves. Burn wood and coal-- we burn coal. You might take that with you.
