

(Yeah. Put it over here right under this. Wonder--reckon how deep this old well is? What did they have--people came around and dig wells for you--I mean well digger?)

Yeah. They had regular spudder you know.

(Yeah.)

We lived 3/4 of a mile south of here in the next section line. 'Bout two miles west of (inaudible). You know this country here. They didn't come in a buggy, we walk most of the time. We walked and come out on this hill.

(Oh, you just came right over this hill, huh? Well, what time did you alls classes take up anyway?)

I think they took up at 9 I believe. Just like the schools now.

(Man! You had to kinda start kinda early didn't you?)

Nine to four.

(Now we are walking on top of the hill over-looking the school house.)

I thought that cemetery and high places (rest of sentence not clear).

(End of Side A)

They would be laying on top of the ground from the rain you see. (not clear)

That's before the grass come you see.

(You didn't happen to see any burial ceremony did you?)

No. No, I didn't.

Must of been--)

That was way before then. Now we picked up arrow heads here.

(Oh!)

(inaudible) Generally, right in through here.

(Might have been up in there too.)

Yeah, they did. Right in through here.

(Kind of a beautiful sight here isn't it? Over-looking about everything isn't it right here. See miles around.)
