

seen them pass, you know, with the kids. And her sister died, you know and they had a little girl, they never did go to school, I seen them pass.

(Hum. Well, times was hard wasn't it, Mom? How did they make a living; her Mom and Daddy?)

(Sakey: Speaks in Cherokee.) (Irrelevant conversation to child.)

Maggie: (words in Cherokee.) Wild onions, they live on wild onions, Faye. And, Kanatachi, crawfish, and squirrel, rabbit. Anything they can get.

(Anything off the land?)

Maggie: Yeah, something like that. They never did anywhere grow something they could grow anywheres in a field. (Words to child not relevant)

And then I know, ---

(Like they hunt and fished a lot, didn't they?)

FATHER WAS CHIMNEY MAKER

Maggie: Yeah, and his Daddy, though he used to make chimney. He's the one that taught every one of them, you know. Hooley and Robert and he used to be good--there's some yet. See corner Huckleberry Corner,

(Yeah, that chimney?)

Maggie: He built that.

(Now what was his name?)

Maggie: Speaks in Cherokee to Sakey. Wilson Bread.

(Wilson Bread. In other words he was a real good chimney maker and taught all those other men how to do that?)

Maggie: He used to make them log chimneys, too. Isn't that funny one burn the house, that time. We've had chimneys like that, like he built for us. Just a log, now. We had a log house and a chimney log up there.
