

get big lights, you know in there. She think she have money some day.

(Speaking in Cherokee to Sakey.) Now you go down there and Hooley sign up. We come down here today. It's two and a half a month--that big light.

(Oh, just to have a big yard light?)

That's all you have to do. Just sign up. Sign up where you live.

And everything. And every month it come it's two and a half, though.

You have to pay for it.

(That's quite a bit.)

Yeah. You know, that's good if you'll join looks like you ought to pay ain't it? You just have to fill them out a paper over here.

(Sakey, spoken in Cherokee)

Well, that's an empty house!

(Right over here.)

Yeah, nobody live up here.

(Sakey, in Cherokee.)

She said right here nobody live either.

(Sakey speaks in Cherokee.)

SAKEY LIVES OFF WELFARE

(Well, Mom, Sakey gets social security now, doesn't she, from Looney, or is it just welfare?)

Welfare. (Speaking in Cherokee.)

(Sakey speaking in Cherokee.)

She don't get no social security?

(Just welfare. And her commodities.)

(Sakey speaks in Cherokee.)

('Cause I guess, Looney, Looney couldn't work.)

No, she said she draw every bit on him, you know, when it first begin.
