

Same feelings. Not feelings but the same--

(I understand. I understand more about you than you think I do.)

If you were in my position and I was in your position, I'd question you the same way, I mean.

(I think I know that you feel a responsibility toward your people. Otherwise, you wouldn't be doing some of the things that you're telling me that you're doing. Why do you have a--you work with young people all the time? Matter of fact, don't you have a girls' softball team? That you spend your own money on occasionally when you--)

My own money, too, that comes out of my own--

(Did you wind up without funds?)

GIRLS' SOFTBALL TEAM

Well, this is something that I've always wanted to do. I was very interested in sports a long, long time ago. Because of my health condition now I can't. I can't--I can't go into sports like I'd like to. So I do my best to let everybody else go into sports as full as they can. That's one reason I was coach for a girls' softball team this summer. An Indian girls' softball team and I took the team down to the Oklahoma--

(Naturally you'd choose girls.)

Well, I can choose the men, too. But the men wouldn't recognize me as being their coach.

(I'm teasing.)

Because of my age. You know, they'd say, "Ah, I don't want to listen to him because he's younger than I am."

(Younger than I am.)

So this is the girls will want. They want help. They want to play. You know, and they'll want to find somebody that'll let them play. So here I am. I'm letting these girls play. And I said, "If you play good, well,
