

I'm going to try to rent me a house. Get out of here. That brother-in-law of mine, he got kind of where he got cranky sometimes, you know. He didn't want to talk. He act like he was only one there.

(What was his name?)

George. George Somti. So well, I went to see my rentor down there. I seen that lady, Esther Puell. Well, I seen her. She had a house, west of Fort Cobb, where there used to be a salvage there, but it ain't there anymore. Well when I told her that I wanted to rent your house for one year, while I get a house back on the place. I borrowed loan. I get Tennyson (Berry) to help me get a loan..six hundred dollar loan from the government. So when I did that when that loan went through, I rent her house for a year. the year '30. Well we moved. Well, I told the boys down there to help me move what little I had down there, what little furniture I had. Well there was about three or four wagons came there. Where we was living, mywife and I went to town to buy a lot of stuff for dinner. I bought some meat, potatoes, my wife could boil some beans. Them boys, there was Gerbert (Redbone) and Tom Bitsiddy's brother, he was living there, and Charlie High. About four wagons. So, my mother-in-law she was wondering why these Apache boys was coming up. Told my wife, what them boys coming up for. (She (Fred's)wife) had some stuff packed already..secretly. She didn't want to tell her mother cause she was going to feel bad when we tell her we move. Finally, she just come out and tell her mother cause she was going to move. We're moving. You all can take this house over if you want. We move in here, this house, and you came and just took the house over, and moved in on us. So they got started loading our stuff..beds, and dressers and all that we had. We fixed our house up down there. We put in new screen door, new door, and fixed up all the window screens. I put in about two or three windows. I gave out about sixty dollars in one year. My rentor, he gave me that much money. I just went to the Indian Agency and draw up a contract and I just paid it right there before them guys, that lease clerk. Then we got moved, we got set down there. We moved down there.
