

they used to be an old man by the name of Sixkiller lived there.

(Yeah. Well that's the one I want to find out about. Somewhere up there there's a little bitty graveyard.)

Up here this story.

(Yeah, somewhere. And I want to find that where he was buried. And now there may not be markers there, but I want to get it recorded. Does he still have any folks living around?)

I think not.

Third: Maybe these other people might know because I been away from my home, you know.

(Yes ma'am)

Third: Been with my own people. 'Course when I lived, my sister knowed a Six Killer around home there.

(Yeah.)

Joseph Six Killer.

(Oh yeah, lots of 'em down there.)

And this fella I dont know what his first name--(tape skip)

--was that Ned.

(Ned?)

His son.

(Yeah, the son.)

Ned's dead.

(Ned's dead. Now his widow, you know, she lives down in that Mulberry Hollow.)

Yeah.

(Her and one daughter. One they call Josephine.)

I guess?

(Yeah. They live right there close to Wiley Wolf. No, Wiley Wolf.)

The last time I saw his sone here he was had his family.
