

No, I just got here and there but this is supposed to be a regular accredited college course with like 2 or 3 hours credit.

(I have read that program--mater-of-fact, I, when it first became a law, a bill, I read it and it is supposed to also include a class, a cultural class in there, for Indian adults.)

Uh-humm.

(And I'm just wondering if Northeastern is furnishing that?)

I really don't know. I haven't, I've been kinda letting down in that area because I've been so. . . .

(Busy, out there?)

Working, you know, all the time. I get work 7 days a week.

(Do you work on Sunday too?)

Hummm, right.

(Well, you all are off on Mondays?)

Not me.

(Not you?)

Not me, no, I work 7 days a week. Most of the time I have too, I get involved in something. It starts like I got to get a payroll. I'll start working like that and I'll look at the time. . . I better go and I look at the time and I got 5 more minutes. *Referring to an appointment

(No, I knew.)

And this is why, I kinda, I should have called but I said the fourth time. . . third or fourth time. Boy, I said she's going to be mad at me.

(I knew what was happening.)

So, I finally got 'em up here though.

(I knew that, first of all, you're only off one night a week or I thought you were off one night a week, and I thought je-me-ne. . . .)

Well, see usually on Monday nights, like I said, I'm usually off. I usually stay til 6 or 7 and then I'm off but I usually. . . .
