

says, "Egsaenu". And I said, "Why don't you speak English?" He looked at me he says, "Oh, hush". But when I lost the horse and got lost in the woods and I went out to look for it--I saw him. He was driving his wagon and I called to him and I said, "Whichaway back to Hochatown?" And he won't tell me. So after that, I learned that I'd better treat him a little nicer.
