

(It would be on that west side of that gravel road, then.)

No, it would be on the east side.

(It would be on the east side.)

I think it would be on the east side. And down this--south of Sam's Corner about two miles, there's a cemetery there. It's what they call the old Markham cemetery.

(Yeah.)

One of the Markhams lived there.

(Well.)

If you would be interested--

(Yes, I would.)

EARLY DAY SETTLERS NAMED

(The McNairs that used to be in this country. And with them were some Bushyheads that were married into the family. Do you remember anything about them?)

Yeah. They married in together. You know, the old McNair place is right down here about a mile.

(Yeah.)

But the old house is burned down. It used to be a big two story house. A big fireplace. Only one of the nicest places in the country. Pecan groves around it.

(Well.)

But it's all burned down, there's a new house been built. And McNairs married into the Bushyhead family. Of course, my father, his first wife was a Bushyhead. So they're all kinfolks.

(Well.)

Mrs. Mayes: /Sentence not clear/

Was there a Bushyhead chief one time?
