

over there at St. John's. I guess about one of the best over there.

He got this big grant. We read it in the paper.

(What was that family's name, Lindsey?)

Neal.

(Neal.)

Oliver Neal.

SALT LICKS

(Now, Salt Springs, I believe, close to your place here.)

Yeah, Salt Lakes, they called 'em.

(Yeah.)

That's where the old time people made salt.

(Yeah.)

Salt Lake. They made salt there. They had big kettles.

(Yeah.)

Over there /sentence not clear/. And salt it. Then when it run out over there ground everywhere, you know.

(Yeah.)

Salt water killed a lot of the birds. Then the cattle would come there and lick. Then they call it the Lick.

(Yeah.)

Came from licking it. There's one down that old Nettie Briar's place.

The river flooded it and there's one at Salina, south of Salina.

The river flooded it.

Mrs. Mayes: There down there Hudson Nelson lives.

HUDSON DAM

It was down here about a mile and a half. Two miles.

Mrs. Mayes: Towards that old Markham Ferry.

The old Markham Ferry. That's where they got the name for this Markham Ferry Dam.

(Yeah.)
