

But they changed that, they call it the Hudson Dam now. Lot of people do, but most people call it the Markham Ferry

He'd turn that old rig out on the river. Sister was on the other side.

/Laughter/

(That would be quite a life, wouldn't it?)

Yeah.

(Especially the river being up.)

Oh, yeah. Logs running. It was higher than the river, you know, the better go straight up and down the river. Can't get much current. I always used to cross there when I wanted to get on the other side.

/Laughter/

(End of Interview.)