

Yes.

(So you know lot of Indian folks, they never kept no records.)

No.

(In their lifetime. They just born, they lived and just died and that's all.)

'Bout two days when somebody dies. In two days they done forget about it.

(That's right. They always forget.)

EDUCATION

(When you was little girl, Mrs. Bearpaw, where did you have school?)

Downing Springs school house. Right up there close to that /word not clear/.

(Yeah.)

I walked three miles to go to school.

(That's a long--right through the woods.)

Yeah. I got one sister, you know, by the name of Lucy Prichett.

(Yeah.)

And we'd go right straight on. When she married, I go by myself.

(Yeah.)

Lot different. I walk out there by myself and this time I can't walk by myself. I'm a grown woman. /laughter/

(Well.)

I'm afraid.

(Yeah. When you was a little girl, you wasn't afraid, though.)

No. It's dangerous this time.

(Yeah, it is.)

Lots of change.

(Lots of changes come.)

Yes.

(Yeah, those woods was wild woods when you was a little girl.)
