

house." "No, I don't want to move my house." He said, "well, you tear up or we'll build you another house." It is not same. This is mine. I was born right there. Any day we've gotta do something. We going to fight. I'm not going to get out. I'm not tearing up my own home.

(Well, no.)

Well, I'll see about it. I guess you've been talking to some Indian agent or something like that. "They'll move ye." Some people was tellin' me that. Lots of people would tell me. "No, you can't do nothing. They're going to." They're not going to. I'm going to do something. Now, they're moving way back here in the pasture, they got a power line. I ain't moving. This is my own home. Where nobody can do nothing to me.

(That's right.)

'Cause all my life right here. My home's here and I wasn't going out there.

(It's better that way.)

Yeah.

('Cause people--person's happy where his home is.)

Yes.

COMMENT CONCERNING GOVERNMENT PROCEDURE

(Does the government come down and help the people down here, the Indian people?)

No.

(They don't. They've got a lot of government people working up there in the office. Look like they'd come down and help 'em.)

Looks like it. No. When they're down in their office, they're supposed to be working, you know. They ain't doing nothing. I just call 'em loafers. You know, they just people that's all, they just get money /word not clear/ work. Pay $25.00 a week. They're going to use all
