

No, we didn't go. We went to the--well after it was a college we went to the summer school a little bit. But we didn't graduate from there. But our grandmother was a member of the first graduating class.

(From the Female Seminary.)

Uh-huh.

(Well.)

I've forgotten the date. And our aunts went there, but Mama. She got married.

DESCENDANTS OF MOTHER'S AND FATHER'S FAMILIES

(Yeah. By the way, what family was your mother from?)

She was from the--you mean way back?

(Well, just whatever her father's family.)

Her father was Monroe Keys.

(Monroe Keys.)

And that's where we're--

(Yeah. I see now.)

Now there were three full-blood Irish brothers came from Ireland directly over here and they married Cherokee wives. But I don't know--Frank told me, I think, what his grandfather's name was. Aunt Lydia wrote a record of that. Wasn't that in--no, that wasn't it. Some paper that she gave us.

/second female voice: You know I've got that things--stashed away.

I can't stop long enough to get them in order. I have just been sitting here trying to stay up with her./

MEMORIES AND EXPERIENCES IN EARLY DAYS AS A SCHOOL TEACHER

(I bet you've had some interesting experiences, particularly in your first school teaching days. I can picture out in that country out in there teaching at those little country schools.)

/second female voice: When you got locked in./
