

house. They said it was eight acres and they took off $37 of my lease money. We fuss about it, but it's got to be paid. So when his lease is out next year, he's not going to lease it. I think the county is going to lease it.

(Mou mean they are taking gravel out of the leased pasture land?)

Yea, out of the pasture. That's what they made them pay back, $37 out of our lease money. And I didn't think it was that much, but the office said it was eight acres, so there we was. Let it go. They probably stopped at the road and looked at it and said it was eight acres. That's what they usually do. They don't come up. When we had this house fixed...when you have a house fixed with your land with your sale money the office supposed to come out and see it. Well, they haven't been out here. We had this house fixed when we sold his land, and when I went up there, the first thing they asked me was what kind of new car did we get. I say you go out there and see our new car. We still got our old green Ford, I said. We put all our money to our house. Cause they would have condemned this house just like they did my brother Jimmy's (Boyiddle) over there. He can't fix his house, he's got to tear it down. Well, this house is older than his house. He can't fix his house. He tried to borrow money to fix it.

(Now who condemns a house?)

The Indian Office. They come out here. The came out there and seen it, because he wanted to borrow some money to repair that house. Office said it was condemned. H's got to tear it down and rebuild it.

(Where will he get the money to do that?)
