

and set them out (not clear).

(Did you all make jelly?)

We didn't make no jelly.

(Oh you didn't.)

Huh-uh. Mama didn't have time you know. To make jelly.

(You all canned them.)

Uh-hum. We canned a little.

MORE ABOUT DANCING

(Did you ever hear of a fiddle dance?)

I've been to them. Yes. I dance fiddle dances. (laughter) I used to go to white dances.

(Oh you went to white dances.)

Uh-hum.

(Oh, was that different from fiddle dance?)

Well no, same thing.

(But just the Indians had fiddle dance.)

Uh-huh. Yeah, they used to have dances. And white people too, and that was lately, though, when I went to white dances. When the white people come into this country then that's when they start dancing, fiddle dance.

(What did they play, just the fiddle?)

Just the fiddle.

(They didn't have no guitars?)

No they didn't have any at that time. They sure was some good fiddlers though.

(There were?)

Uh-hum. (laughter) Yeah, boy!

(Did they dress a special way?)

No. Huh-uh.

(Oh, they didn't.)
