

(Oh.)

Can't eat it anymore.

(Not good for you?)

That's what they say. (Creek words)--my heart.

(Oh.)

Uh-huh. So I just have to do without salt.

(Oh, you can't eat salt either?)

No, huh-uh. I guess I know lots of things but I just don't--can't remember it. not. (speaks Creek)

(Yeah. What about your clothing?)

We didn't have not much clothing.

(You didn't?)

No.

(Did you all make your own?)

Uh-huh. Yeah. We made quilts.

(Yeah. You all quilted a lot?)

Not too much. You can't get no material anywhere in those days. We used to go without shirts--without clothes lot of times.

INDIAN DOCTORS AND INDIAN MEDICINE

(Oh. What about when you all got sick? Did you all go to town for doctor?)

No there wasn't no doctors.

(Oh. What did you all do?)

Well we just had Indian doctors. And they were good doctors too, those days.

But they ain't any anymore.

(What did they give you?)

Well, they give us--well, it just go in the water you know, put some medicine root in --some kinds of herbs and go in the water and get it for us and we take a bath with them you know.
