

after he married. He run it later.

(And Boggs built the hotel.)

But now there's a two-room house that served as White Oak's first hotel.

(Yeah.)

Boggs built this one right here. And he sold it to Joe Beck. But that 1895, White Oak was started before that, or I believe it was. (tape skip)

Nat's funeral. I'll betcha that's the place he took those three. There wasn't anything left of it. Don't recall the name of it. He said it used to be town. It was hard to believe. I'll bet that's the place.

(It could have been.)

Of course, I don't know anything about it.

(But you take a place of 75 houses well that would be a pretty good size community.)

Well, land yes. I doubt if there was 75 houses in White Oak. And it looks--you know. Its not 75 houses in White Oak; I'm sure.

(No, there may not be.)

No, I don't believe there is..

CIRCUS TIME IN VINITA

(Has there been more here at one time? This is about the height of its growth then.)

Its the height of the foundation. (laughter) Used to be more stores here. Quite a few stores have three and four stories. 'Course these supermarkets and a good way to go, you see, that's--

(That has--yeah, that's hurt a whole lot and automobiles have made going to Vinita--well you can run up there in ten minutes without any trouble.

Good highway. 'Course back in the days when there's horse and buggy and wagon or go by train it was a different situation then.)

Oh yes, it was. And it tells in this book about Vinita used to have such good circus. Well, they did. That was before car days, you know.
