

I make sof-pa-lipke I guess you make that.

(Yeah I started making it after I got married. Way after I got married. And then about that, what was you was telling me about? Besides abuskee and hominy, sour bread--)

Oh, well one I know we grated our sweet potatoes and make potatoe bread. Can you make that?

(Huh-uh)

Well we take, you know what a grader is. You know.

(Uh-hum)

(speaks creek (Oba))

(Yeah)

We take that and we wash the potatoes in there and I don't remember. But I think we peeled them. And then we grade our potatoes you know. And then we take it and get what little we can, done. And then you take it and put sugar in it and I think a little flour. And cinnamon. And then make them out in biscuits and cook them.

(Do you cook them in--)

Oven.

(Oh in the oven.)

Uh-hum

(Oh-h-h. That's the first time I heard of it.)

Is it? Well that's what they call potato bread. I haven't make any in years.

Yeah that's Indian potato bread.

(And then they put beans in-?)

In blue dumplings.

(Yeah)

I've never done that. I've seen them put sweet potatoes. They dice their sweet potatoes. And put in there, in the blue dumplings.
