

(And how old are you? Sixty three?)

Huh-uh. Yeah. No. I think, sixty-seven.

(Sixty-seven)

(Speaks Creek)

(Have all your sisters been saved?)

Uh-huh.

(Except you.)

Uh-huh

(Speaks Creek) Catholic (speaks Creek). Do you know her?

(Leli? Uh-hum. Yeah I remember her but (speaks Creek). I don't know if I know her or not because Oh, I don't know it's been a long time.)

I don't think you would know her. She's so strange. Let's see it's your son (speaks Creek) you know painting (speaks Creek). Well I know her mother well.

(Speaks Creek) I guess they're still there, aren't they?

(Uh-huh. Yeah. Well. I would like to see her you know.)

They's supposed to come down in April, April 18, (speaks Creek.) See she's a grandma now.

(I guess (speaks Creek). Cause uh--)

She still talks about you though.

(Where we went to school I guess.)

Yeah. Uh-huh

(Well)

(Speaks Creek.) Museum (speaks Creek)

(Mrs. Denton (speaks Creek)

I guess that was her I don't--

(Speaks Creek)

Yeah. Boy Scouts (speaks Creek) (Speaks Creek) You (speaks Creek)
