

Well we had a big pile in front of our cards and when you used that up well, that's when we win. We had about, I forgot about how many, but we had a big pile in front of where we put our cards down and that's when they use to have it. When they called a number why we took that off. And when we get it all off, we win.

(How many players?)

All the players we could get. Much as six one time.

(Oh, that many?)

Uh-hum. And after I was grown and old, well we was playing and at that time they said the end of the world was coming. We were sitting on this old pole and we'd go out and look and see if we could see light up there but, one of us would go out and look for light and see if that fire was showing. And we were playing flinch. And Coleman, that was my husband and my brother, John and his wife and my brother Benny and his wife and we had a big home that we had bought, a big house, a big one. In those days it didn't cost so much. It was cheap things then, not high like now days. And we had bought that. And whoever won was going to get that hand but one of us would go outside and see if end of the world was coming. He'd watch for it to and he'd play. Finally my brother John won the game before the end of the world.

(I guess that was fun.)

And that was about, forty years ago I guess.

(Oh, you say your mother taught school when you were talking awhile ago.

Where did she teach? Was it regular school house?)

No, I told you, Indian churches.

(Was it? Weehgofche, sometimes. Just different places?)

Uh-hum. Well different places each year. She taught at Weehgofche. Sometimes some white kids came to she used to say. But it was mostly Indians she taught.

(Was you in the class too?)
