

here, old ones, old, old Indians. But we don't have much old Indians now. We have some, but very few.

INDIAN DOCTORS

(Yeah, and then when they didn't have no Indian hospital did they use Indian doctors?)

Yes, they used to use Indian doctors. There used to be good Indian doctors.

(Uh-huh.)

Then they were, but they must have been good because they sure did help each other. These Indian doctors had good medicine. They had some kind of weeds and herbs. Boil them and drink it and just anything, they don't know what it was they really worked. It must have helped people they got well when they used it.

(Yeah. Were the doctors willing to make home call when they were called in those days?)

Yeah, they were willing most of the time. They were called, they come. But all them good doctors are gone. We don't have, not much Indian doctors. There might be some but not to many.

(Uh-hum. You mean the Indians that were willing to come and doctor?)

Uh-huh. They would.

(What about the white doctors?)

They were willing to come too, whether you paythem or not. But you can't get them to come now unless you, they see the money. ((laughter.))

(That's true)

You just have to lay there and die. Yeah, the Indians were willing to come and the white doctors were willing to come. Even at the the middle of the night when we'd call them. they'd come. And they'd get their horses and come and when the child was to be born, well they'd come and help. And help and