

All through the night?

(Uh-huh.)

Uh-huh. Yeah even the young ones set way back then. We'd see lot of people. Yeah, we used to have good singing and preachers too.

(Did they dismiss any during the night?)

Uh-huh. Yeah they used to dismiss and maybe they drink coffee and eat. Them niggers used to help right along too. They did. They were christians too and they sang and they even talked Creek. I seen few families out there, living out there, they quit coming. The old ones died.

(Monday morning when it was over, what did they do? Did they eat breakfast and go home?)

Yeah. We'd eat breakfast and maybe dinner before we'd leave the camp.

Oh)

And by the time we get home it'd be Monday evening. We didn't go till kind of late.

(Did most of them campers did they cook outside them days?)

Uh-huh. They used to cook outside. Yeah we had stoves and cleared out area to cook outside. But they'd stay around, visit around and talk, and none of them slept after they sit up all through the night. They just visited around, visit people, sit and talk.

(Sleep the next night, huh? Monday night.)

Uh-huh. When they go home. We sure can't do it now. Unless I have a toothache.

(I guess everythings different now, from them days, aren't they?)

It sure is different. All them days are gone forever.

(Do you think they'll ever come back?)

They never will. To far gone. Now we're going on the end of the world.

They'll never come back.

(You was raised up going to church, not to a dance.)
