

Yeah, I've got a boy that lives right there. And I've got another boy that lives down the road. I've got one that lives catty cornered across over there. And Bluejacket lives further down.

(Yeah.)

To the south.

(That's Julian Bluejacket.)

Yeah.

(Yeah, I know him. He and I worked together out there in Arizona and New Mexico. Long time ago. He stops by home sometime.)

THE SHAWNEES WERE OF THREE FACTIONS

Well, I was chief here for years and I quit it. And they elected him.

He's chief of the tribe now. Well, they call us Eastern Shawnees because we're in the Eastern part of the state, you know. Then the Cherokee Shawnees and the the Absentee Shawnee.

(Well, there are three different bunches then.)

Yeah. Three different groups.

(Let's see is there one bunch down in central Oklahoma, around Shawnee town or Tecumseh or somewhere?)

No. Their agency 's at Anadarko.

(Anadarko.. And then the Absentee Shawnee are still back up--)

No, they're are Anadarko.

(By Anadarko.)

This Cherokee bunch down here though they don't have no agency. They just represent the Cherokee Shawnee.

(Yeah.. Oh, that's the bunch in Whiteoak Hill.)

Yeah.

(Yeah.)

Yeah, Randy Carpenter bought my uncles palce down there after my aunt died.
