

Then later they had the school house down there named New Canan.

(New Canan. I've heard of that one.)

That's after they did away with Slapout. Then they had New Canan.

Then on further south there was one named McNair. That's in that area now.

(Well!)

I kinda expect they've done away with it. When the plant took over out here, the OOW, it did away with New Canan and McNair both and Browning Springs also.

(Then the only one that survived was, in this area, would be the little one back up here.)

Archer.

(Archer. Of the early day churches or did they have churches in the early days? Did they just use the school?)

They just used the school house for church houses. They still--I don't know now in the last year whether they still have church at Archer or not. I believe they do.

(I think so. Now several years ago I used to attend over there then they'd have revivals. And I think they still do.)

They've had revivals down in New Canan church house. See we lived back-- you know where these people live. (word not clear) Gibson?

(Yes mam.)

That old rock wall that stands east of there. That was our old home place.

(Well.)

We were married in 1914. Just a few days after he deeded this Browning Springs house. Down here at Browning Springs. Made the deed to that church.

(Yes.)
