

nobody use that.

(When would you gather the bark from the hickory trees?)

Well, just anytime when you got a cold. Just go out there and cut it off the tree.

(Even in the dead of winter, in other words. You could, if you knew it was a hickory tree?)

Yeah, just so it's green.

(Oh, you should pick it in the summer when it's green?)

Well, in the wintertime too, you can find a green tree. Just go out there and chop a chip off.

(Oh, I see what you mean. Just as long as it's alive.)

Yes. Just as long as it's alive. That's the way it was that time. But now though, there's lot of cough drops there in town now though because that's where we get the cough drops. Now, time we get it from the store. I never had seen it anymore since they brought it in the store. Well, I just go to the store and get it.

USING CATNIP FOR HIVES

And catnip, that's good for babies to drink. Break out the hives when they got a young baby. And it's green, it's green. I guess you seen that horehound, didn't you?

(Horehound candy?)

You know, this green weed what they call horehound.

(No, I've never seen that.)

Well, it's just pretty near you like it. But it's got a sharp point, the leaves is. Kind of like a cat's tongue. And that's how come they call it catnip. That's good for babies to bring the hives out when they're little. You can buy that in the store. They've got some of that in the store, that catnip.
