

(Yeah, that was an old bank there.)

Owner of one of the stores was Rhinehart. He credit people for hundreds of miles.

(Well.)

On the farms.

(Rhinehart. And they had a---)

He run credit.

(Uh-huh.)

And he owned all the land out and around here.

Unidentified voice: They used to call it Trading Company---

Yeah.

(Rhinehart Trading Company.)

Unidentified voice: Rhinehart Trading Company.

(And you said they had a bank here?)

Uh-huh. Yeah, they had bank. (Laughter) It was possible then.

Unidentified voice: Guy's name was "Banker Williams."

("Banker" Williams.)

Ramsey run the joint but not at the post office---

Unidentified voice: No, Ramsey West runs the post office.

Yeah, Ramsey West.

(Did they have any other business stores?)

Yes.

Unidentified voice: There was T.A. Thompson's Store. Earl Hobbs--

Earl Hobbs, he ran the meat market--- (Laughter)

(Well.)

The meat market was right in front Loney's house there.
