

go over to salt creek. You might be confused. But there, right there, is where there was over a million dollars buried. It will be there forever, I guess.

(It will now.)

Yeah.

(Will with that much cement on top of it. Well, as you say, there's no telling how much stuff is buried...)

Well, I'll tell you how easy you can miss it. I'll tell you one day I was going by salt creek there. We went back there and studied that. And I studied there's a drawing and another drawing. Let's go to that other drawing. And I took this side. This side led us to the second drawing, to a great big dead tree about so large.

And there's two leaves came out on this side. I said that's buried right between these roots. And we dug-down. It came up a dust storm. I said, let's get out of here while we can. On the way out in that durn dust storm, I hit a dump truck. About a month later got back. But somebody had taken into consideration what we did in the bulk of that tree. They had dug right down side of the fork. Me and this other fellow went in there. They had dug back in another one and had taken it out. A container about that high and about that big around. We didn't miss it by far. --hadn't gone down ten inches and I guess they thought I was digging for treasure.

I didn't think about treasure being buried there. Durn if they didn't take out a container about that big, about that high. Right in the same hole right on down. You know them musta went on down there and got that. It didn't enter my head.

OLD MILITARY ROAD & OTHER BURIED TREASURES

There others was on the old military road over there. That big spring there on the Morrison place there. That was one of the camp grounds. Them sat on the southwest. Somebody's buried that old
