

Project activities, notably the implementation of field work in western Oklahoma and the organization of the index to the collection.

TABLE 1

AMERICAN INDIAN INSTITUTE BOARD MEMBERS

Name	Background
Boyce D. Timmons	Cherokee. Chairman, American Institute Board. Director, Indian Programs of the University of Oklahoma. Director (since Feb., 1968), Duke Indian Oral History Project.
William E. Bittle	Non-Indian. Professor of Anthropology. Chairman (till 1970), Department of Anthropology
Arrell M. Gibson	Non-Indian. Professor of History. Curator (till 1971), Western History Collections. Chairman, Department of History. Director (till Feb., 1968), Duke Indian Oral History Project.
J. Keever Greer	Non-Indian. Director, Stovall Museum of Science and History. Associate Professor of Zoology.
Edward Shaw	Non-Indian. Director, University of Oklahoma Press.
Doris Tonemah	Caddo. Chief Medical Technician, University Health Services.
Raymond White	Cherokee. Professor of Office Administration and of Education. Chairman, Department of Administrative Services.

In the summer of 1967 the Project worked out an arrangement with Dr. Bittle and the U. S. Summer Field School in Ethnology for obtaining some oral history tapes from tribes of western Oklahoma. Like previous Field Schools in Ethnology, this one was designed primarily as a training program for graduate anthropology students. However it was decided that the techniques of informant interviewing and participant observation could be learned while gathering oral history materials, and fifty tapes were made by the Field School personnel during this session. The follow-