I visited Dan Beaver near Wetumka, Oklahoma. I explained to him what I wanted to know so he already started talking. His wife died a few years ago. His daughter lived with him for four years, and was just moving out when we were there. She has her own family, so Dan Beaver said he will be by himself now. He told about a man named Gussie Harjo. He died a few years ago. He was an elderly man, and a minister. Dan said Gussie used to go into the pool hall at Wetumka and people talked about him because of him being a minister and going into the pool hall. But the reason was, that he used the restroom in there. Other stores wouldn't let him use the restroom in there and that was the only place he could go.

He told about, "You are not supposed to fuss at your pastor at church. If you have anything to say to him or about him, just tell it straight to his face and explain and not be mad." They were ordained in Spirit and he said the Big Master does not agree to anything like that. (Dan Beaver is a minister too.)

He said if you get fussed at, its best to just leave, don't argue back. If they let you go with false accusing, it's best to go humble and never say a word. He said that whip that anyone had and who used it on an innocent person will some twenty or thirty years later, get back punishment and that, it is the truth. If you leave meek and humble, the Big Master up above will put you in a good place. He says that's what he teaches his church. He said my father Coleman Lewis used to really up lift him when he was here. He said he used to really preach
