

about to eat me. The Indians' dogs are sure mean. They almost eat me up. I was trying to help. (Laughter) More Indians has more dogs. I've seen that and I know that.

(Unidentified voice: They sure are mean.)

Yeah, they are mean. Cause I --

(Unidentified voice: Cause that is when you were going house to house.)

Yeah, that is when those Indian dogs are so mean. (Laughter)

(Do you want to talk about the doctors?)

The doctor .

(Ah-huh)

Ahhh! Now much but, ah, if we the Indians -- go to the doctors and if they don't treat you right we have some people that you can tell it to. Take his name who that was. The doctors name that wasn't treating the Indian patient right. The can report to Jack or Calvin and they can straight it out. Some doctors can act so -- how do you say.

(Hateful?)

Hateful. That's why they sign up to be doctor for the Indian so they can talk hateful to them. Even they are patients. They think they have --

(I ask you about the doctors a while ago?)

Oh, ah-huh, you asked me about the doctors. These are the doctors, they says that go to school for six years. When they come out with low grade, they take practice where there have war.

(Unidentified voice: Wounded.)

Wounded. Where they practice medic around the wounded. The ones that come out of college with good grades they send them out to Indian Hospital or Indian Clinic, or some place is what the government do. They need good staff.
