

HOW THINGS WILL BE

How things will be when they tried to down fall the Indians on this land. Some will tried to help the Indian, some will become half-breed. They will be a time come when they will built the Highways and they will kill Indians and live as Dogs. And some of em will take the blame which they don't do nothing. There will be so many people will have no place live if the Indians have forty acres, if the man had a horse, they will take their horse to this Indian land and put them in, and they will reported as a horse thief and they say here's the prove in their pasture. And they will take forty acres away from him. Even the Judge will believe and the land will be given to the white man. And the horse owner will say get off my land Indian. And that will be the beginning. They will be a war will come all the Christian people will pray through the night for peace. And the War will be over and the world will be stronger. And the world will get weak. Everyone will forget the war which was 1940 and they will be little wars here and there. But many Indians will fight for their country, but some will never come home, and at the time you will see things flying up in the air which we never seen before, which is Airplane and they will be nother then faster than bullet. Which is we call rocket today. They will search air looking for another land. They will tried many places up in the sky. They say they seen another land and then they will go back again time after time. They say they will have pictures taken like alive picture. Which we call today a television. Some of 'em will walk on air which is done today floating out in space. And finally they will find a beautiful land out in the blue. That will be beginning of a new world and they will meet Indians as before. Only a man rich in Silver and Gold will go and buy a land. Some of 'em will go an look and come back. Some of 'em will buy and live up there. Some rich people will come back and buy many cows and horses. They will built their own rocket. Some of 'em will over loaded and broke down and they will fail back into the ocean and many will drown. Many will still built their own. Many will be lost. They will rush in hurry to get to the new world. They will never give up. For those who will be
