

is speaking straight a tongue his is telling us something we will see, but the man shouting he is crazy and they let him go. But before end of the year he begin become Indian doctor he was the best doctor they ever have he had the strongest medicine they ever had they was strongest medicine they had. He took four oldest man and they went in the deep water, they bring out the snake out of the water and cut one little piece of horn and send me snake back in water, this made an old man see and he said let us now look for little people which was elves on the way he cut the little limb of the tree and make little bitty bow, and make little bitty arrow and they went in the big trees finally they found one. He was a mean one he fight back and finally they kill him and they took bone of him and put it in the bag. And he went looking for a biggest turtle with horns on day after day they looked and finally they found one and they cut horn off and put it in bag and again they went they look for biggest alligator strongest one, had a little horn, and they cut it off and put in bag, this was the strongest thing and there he fight with battle he never last a fight, he never gave up and he was a best healing doctor many war chief surrender to him many sick people came to him and heal. This was the beginning of the Indian life.
