

dinner. I was out--went out there to the--oh, there was a little apple orchard out there in the back yard, and I went back out there and got some apples and I peeled them, I think, "I'm going to make some pies," tonight or tomorrow. And so, and so, I went out there. He come out there, and he said, "Dolly", I said, "What is it?" He said, "Do me a favor." I didn't know what he was going to tell me, you know. He's an old man, and I said, "What is it? Mr. Gabe," I told him, He said, "Well." He said, "When you go school I was." I told him, "Yes I would go." I said, "If I'd go where I wanna go." He said, "Where do you wanna go?" And, I wanted to go to anyplace way off somewheres.

(Into Kansas?)

No; not in Kansas, wasn't in Kansas. I know the place. I always think about the place.

Unidentified voice: Lawrence, Kansas.

No, it wasn't Lawrence, Kansas. It was--I told him, I said, "I'd like to go, to go there." He said, "Well, Dolly, that's too far." I said, "Well, I don't care." I said, "Why to go five years." I said, "Be that much better for me." And so he said, "Why not go to hot Lawrence, Kansas?" I told him, "I don't want to go there." He say, "Why Carlisle New Springs. That's why --

(Carlisle, Pennsylvania? Was that an Indian school?)

It was Indian school.

(Was it connected with the church?)

Ah, no, it was just a government school.

(Oh, I see.)

But there was full-blood Indians, you see. There was cars, uh, there was all mixed Indians. So, I told him, I said, "I just like to go some other
