

said, "What?" I said, "I'm goin' to put up a--what you call it? A chili supper sometimes last of next month." And I said, "I'm goin' to buy me some steel post, and a steel gate to go on that gate." I said, "Alright, I might not be here, but it'll be there." And I said, "It'll be there after I'm dead and gone." This Dan said, "Well, sure, we'll help. We'll do it."

(Dan Hayes?)

Mmmm-hmmm.

(That's Turner's boy, isn't it?)

Yeah. (Sentence not clear).

(Is he working for OIO?)

Yes.

(He's the one that has that brooder, raising hogs.)

Mmmm-hmmm.

(Is he doing OK with that?)

Unidentified voice: He's racing out there.

Yeah, that's been pretty good.

(Uh-huh.)

Not much tho', but, I guess, they'll learn, won't they?

(Yeah, maybe, they'll learn from it, you know. I hope they do.)

I do too.

(Make some money off of it.)

Make some meat, ain't it.

(Yeah, at least something to eat.) (Laughter)

Let me see, June, what's the date. First of June is -- first Sunday in June is when they have a "decoration" down here. See, everybody be done with there in the neighborhood, all these here Indians.
