

(Help them out.)

Yeah, it's my money too, you know, cause they --

Unidentified voice: I'll tell you something, but I gotta go.

(Uh, I'm gonna be down for a day or so.)

What? (Interruption.)

(---coming on the Trail of Tears?)

Yes, ma'm, it came on through Trail of Tears. It was on it.

(Well, now, did your husband -- mama or your mother?)

It's his grandmother.

(What was her name?)

Rebecca Neugin. She was a Hood them days. She was a Hood.

(Hood.)

Uh-huh, and ---

Buck: Ketcher.

No, siree, she was--her mother was a Hood. Her mother was a Hood, and she was a Ketcher.

(Ketcher, uh-huh.)

CONTRIBUTES TO GRANT FOREMAN'S HISTORY

And I made that history. I checked here by the fire place with her for three years writing that history. And old man Turner, that was his daddy. Knowed where those pictures were I'd show you. And that's the old woman sitting in there and that's my children, them two, and his step-mother. And, so, they just cut us out of it. He loaned it to Kate, and she takes it to Fairville. She lived out there. She was a high Ma-Tae woman, you know. She's kinda high acting woman. Then, she got so she got disabled, and her daughter's got went over there, and her daughter's living at Peggs now. Her name's Bella. What's her last name?
