

girl can you tell me where Uncle Willie Rogers lives? She said, "I guess I can. That's my grandpa." She rode down to the house with him. He and my dad visited. They had quite a visit. Nearly everybody in town seen that Tom Mix. They all come down and just sit down like a fire.

(Well, he was one of the most famous of your western movie actors in his day.)

Yeah. That was in 1929 when he done that. He died in '31 (1931) and his circus headed this way again, just a few months after my dad died. And he come down there to see him again. Course the old man was dead.

(Yeah.)

But he visited my mother and the rest of the folks there. He was like one of the family at the time.

(Yeah.)

HAD VISIONS THAT PROVED TRUE - TWO INCIDENTS

(Words not clear) -- job. And I got off at three thirty. And I'm one of these dumb fellas that sees things. You know has vision and things. I just come in and took a bath and cleaned up. Went back in the back room there and laid down. Well, my neice come from school about-- I got off at three thirty. She got off at four o'clock. It took a little time to come home, you know. I was laying there on the bed. And my mother and sister was getting supper. And I just kinda--well, I guess, I dozed off to sleep, and all at once I woke up. Well I just threw my feet off the bed and just put my legs on sitting up position. Look right up at the door and there was a great big letter that long. Said Tom Mix in real shiney letters. I hollered in the kitchen at mother and sister. I said, "Come in here." I told 'em what I saw. Just a few minutes that neice walked in. She handed me a letter from my brother. It said that Tom Mix had died that very night. He had been killed in a car wreck.

(Well)

I saw that letter before she got home. Boy I (static) -- I had a vision my
