

(Well)

And then a bunch of Delawares that's--I don't know what they would call 'em. They live down in Anadarko down in there, I guess.

(Yes.)

Some of 'em around Anadarko. 'Course those Delawares that's gonna draw this money is the Cherokee Delawares.

(Yeah.)

Some went down here and took up to Lawton. It's in Indian territory. And there's a bunch of Cherokee Delawares. When the Cherokees got that 280 dollars, you know.

(Yeah.)

They drew with 'em. Well, I thought I wonder if the Cherokees are going to draw with them. If they don't see--

(I don't see -- Now we don't get any of that.)

It's just a small claim.

Third voice: The Delawares come out of Indiana, too.

(Uh-huh)

Oh, they moved around lot of different places.

(Yeah)

I was looking around up there where my daughter lives at Tongunoxie. That's up in the Delaware woods up in Kansas.

(Yeah.)

I don't -- (static) -- And this hill and your home and buildings, you know.

I thought to myself them Indians got to get themselves a home too.

(Yeah.)

RESTRICTIONS REMOVED - CHEROKEE DELAWARES - CLAIMS

Where that thing is located. Got to find out. It might have been. And eventually they got a great big sign out along the highway towards Leavenworth.
